Weymouth, Feb. 28, 1890.

Mr. Aug. J. Riceland, in behalf of the committee of 15 chosen at the last annual meeting to consider the needs of the town, made a report of appropriations, particulars of which will be found under the votes of monies for the various departments.

The report further stated that a sub-committee had been chosen to consider the special subject of repairs of highways, who recommended the appointment of a committee today, to obtain a roller and crusher for highway service. The matters of the report were left for action of the town under the usual headings of appropriations.

The business under the warrant was then continued, and the report of the Trustees of the Tufts Library was then read by Hon. Jas. Humphrey, the report, which was accepted and adopted, being as follows:

As the Library was not opened till after the time to which the older town reports are made up, it has seemed best to present for this year a report in written form of reporting in print. At the last annual meeting of the town, it will be remembered that it was voted to grant the sum of one thousand dollars for the purpose of establishing the Library, on condition that the sum of $500 be raised by private subscription for the same purpose. The Board had, for a

the organization was completed by the choice of an Executive Committee, consisting of James

Wine on furnishing, and F. W. Lewis and A. J. Richards on painting. A meeting specified, E. C. Pompey, A. J. Richards and F. W. Lewis were chosen as canvass for subscriptions.

The work for canvassing was immediately entered upon, and the Committee reported July 11th, that they had been soliciting the sum of $300, and on the 9th of October, the Treasurer reported that the amount of $2000 had been paid in.

year in finishing up all the old jobs, and he hoped the original motion would prevail. Mr. Howe spoke of the lack of gravel in his district, where there was not one gravel hill at a convenient point, while in other wards gravel was worn at hand. He could expend $1400 in his Ward in properly repairing the roads. Mr. A.

Raymond worked in a joke at this point, saying that in Ward 5 the gravel had to be carted so far that the roads were torn all to pieces in carting it. Mr. A. J. Richards stated that Ward 5 had more than one-fifth of the money expended for highways last year. Mr. M. Ford spoke of the "uncultivated corn" in Ward 3 and used the wants of the library for four or five years. The library was opened to the public on the first day of January. The library contains 2,405 volumes, purchased at a cost of about $1,500. There is a balance remaining in the treasury of about $150, a portion of which is available for further purchases. The number of borrowers' cards now issued is 1,135, distributed by wards, as follows: in Ward 1, 193; Ward 2, 167; Ward 3, 594; Ward 4, 46; and Ward 5, 37.

Angagements have already been completed for the transportation of books to and from Wards 4 and 5 at a small expense, and are in progress to other portion of the loan, which will put into the hands of the people reach those who live at a distance from the city, and more satisfactorily, and meet the wants of a large number of borrowers, they will probably be made good.

The Library has been in operation 50 days, during which time there have been about 5200 loans. The average has been 102 per day. The Surveyors were allotted more money than at the present time, though now we have twice the amount of road mileage. Can we not see that more is needed? If we have 73 miles of road, why should not the largest number of miles in any one ward be allotted the most money? Mr. Vining said that accordingly, still he had Arrage in January, 1905; in February, 200; greatest number, 664, 3/22; smallest number, 28, 1/6. The number of borrowers and the circulation are constantly increasing.

It will readily be seen that the number of borrowers is large in proportion to the number of books.

A brief summary of receipts and expenditures since the first of January, taken from the Treasurer's books, is as follows:

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

CARL'S MELANGE.

Washington, March 5, '80.

In the midst of the blindest of spring mornings, the most delightful of autumnal evenings, and mid-days that are devoted to contests between the south and the north winter; with the maples in multiplied hues, and the peaches, trees in blossom, and the lawn green and refreshing to the eye. In short, through the varied contrivances of an unending March week, we are hurrying along through the sober pathway of Lent, toward the delights of an early summer.

The anti-slavery racket over the re-opening of the Fitz John Porter case has commenced in the Senate, at a time and rapid as the most ardent Congressmen could wish. "Mr. Randolph," says a distinguished daily, "opened the case on Monday with one of the finest displays of brilliant and unimpaired oratory to which the Senate walls have ever listened."

Considering that Senator Randolph is the worst speaker in the history of this or any other century, that he devoted two hours to expounding upon the infancy and early boyhood of his hero, and the balance of the day in showing the act of Porter in refusing to obey orders at the second Bull Run to have been transcendently of glory to the nation than the surrender at Appomattox, the language of the distinguished daily may be said to be open to conjecture. "Holding his audience spell-bound and enthralled before his matchless delivery,"—I still quote from the d. d.—"he presented the outrageous story of Porter's treatment, to the lasting disgrace of a nation that so long denies him justice."

This is something nearer the fact, I counted no less than twenty-eight senators during the matchless delivery, "spell-bound," in conversation in various parts of the chamber, and from eight to ten "enchained" in the embrace of their good wives. The only individual whom I noticed to be unimpaired to any extent, was Fitz John Porter himself in the Members gallery, as he listened to what must in him have been the most remarkable presentation of the case that ever occurred to him. If Mr. Randolph's account of the affair is the true one, there is no question but that the disobedience of Porter's orders by Porter was the most brilliant military exploit and unparalleled act of bravery known to this or any other age.

The burden of Senator Randolph's argument appeared to be that Porter could not have been guilty of the charge, upon the ground that the punishment was wholly inadequate to the offense. "Instead of being merely dismissed from service, he should have been shot to death," said he, "by the guns of his own soldiers whom he so shamelessly betrayed." And that was the country has been thinking of Porter's case ever since the fall of 'sixty-two.

Gen. Logan took the floor on Tuesday to reply to Randolph and held it during the balance of the week. Logan's delivery is magnificent, though not eloquent. He is a natural orator, "born to the stump and bred to the hustings," but it is of a rude form of eloquence likely to sway the masses at a campaign gathering, rather than to please a cultured audience in a small senate chamber. Logan's periods are not always perfect, and his sentences may not always be true to grammatical line and plummet, but when Logan speaks there is no one going to sleep in that vicinity. It has been the habit of a cheap species of newspaper writers for many years to indulge their vulgarity and vulgarity by the jeremiad of their feeble intellects by leveling at Logan's errors in pronunciation and construction. I read one of these efforts the other day in the Philadelphia Times, a journal for which I have the highest respect and the pleasantest of business relations, and in an article of a quarter column devoted to the subject of Logan's attack on the Queen's English, I counted no fewer than twenty-one grammatical errors and inaccuracies of composition. This week Carpenter and Hay are to continue the controversy, doubtless upon the ground that no one so thoroughly understands the science of military tactics and maneuvers as men who were never within a thousand miles of a battle-field.

Two things are particularly noticeable in this debate, the first being that the question of a Union General's loyalty and honor is to be passed upon and decided by sixty-two rebel orators, and the second that it is a matter for the courts to decide whether Congress has after all any power to reopen the proceedings of a general-court-martial and set aside its findings. It is doubtful whether the debate will partake in any degree of the parizan character anticipated.

THE "FOOL'S ERRAND."

Those of us who have not been puzzling our brains during the past month over the game of Fifteen, have been admiring the admirable presentation of the Southern question in the pages of the "Fool's Errand." No one doubts but that this work will unconsciously perhaps to the author's intent—form an important factor in the coming campaign. It represents a state of affairs in the Southern states during the period of reconstruction that is true to the letter, and shows that the problem then attempted by

WAYMOUTH HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

The regular monthly meeting of the Society was held at the office of the President, Elias Richards, Esq., last Saturday evening. The committee appointed to confer with the Trustees of the Tufts Library, and also the committee in charge of the removal and arrangement of the library, made their several reports, which were accepted; by which it appears that through the courtesy of the trustees of the Society is permitted the use of sufficient rooms for library purposes and also for meetings, and that a change in the constitution permitting it, probably in future the meetings of the Society will be held in the Tufts Library room on the first Wednesday of each month, excepting July and August.

It was also stated that the books, pamphlets, papers and other property of the Society had been removed there, arranged, and are now open to the use of the public, subject to the usual restrictions that are not removed from the room except upon written permission of the library committee, which consists of Messrs. Richards, Titus and Nash. There are now works of great value to the historical student upon its shelves, and we may reasonably expect from their influence an increasing interest upon this important subject.

Arrangements were also put in operation for a public meeting of the Society at no distant day, when a historical address from some gentleman thoroughly conversant with the subject may be expected. Due notice will be given of the time and place when and where this meeting will be held.

The Recording Secretary was authorized to confer with the Selection of the town in relation to the Historical Collections of the Plymouth and Massachusetts Hay Colonies, now owned by the town and lying at the town house, to see if some arrangement may not be made whereby these valuable volumes shall be brought into more general appreciation and use, by placing them either in the library of this Society, or in the Tufts Library, (virtually the same thing), where they will be easily accessible, and where the fact of their being in sight will call attention to them.

A paper (introductory) upon the "Physiology of Weymouth," was read by Dr. F. E. Forsyth. This series of papers, prepared with much labor, from original and authentic sources, is intended to cover, as far as may be, a sketch of all the physicians who have practiced that profession in this town, from Dr. Salisbury, who came over with the "Weston" company in 1622, to the present time, and also be a record of great and permanent value. Thanks were voted, and the Doctor was requested to prepare copies of the papers, as they are prepared, for publication in the "GAZETTE."

A paper was also read by the Recording Secretary upon the "Dead Burying Ground," as it is called, situated on Front street, about half a mile from the town hall, and containing the names of its grave owners. This will appear soon in the "GAZETTE," and it is hoped that before many months we may have upon permanent record the inscriptions in all of the cemeteries in town. Already we have had several, and those, some of them, the most difficult to obtain.

The following documents were presented to the society at this meeting, for which thanks were voted. By Hon. J. W. Porter, a pamphlet containing an address delivered by Ex-Gov. Chamberlain, upon the subject suggested by its name. By F. T. Wilson, Esq., "Army Hospital, 1862." By Mr. Jeremiah Spencer, "An Indian relic found near Hurling Island," consisting of a curiously wrought stone, used by the aborigines in hunting and war.

By J. J. Lough, Esq., "The First and Second Reports of the Boston Records Commissioners, covering the early tax lists and real estate transfers, with the general records of that town." The society has now all of these valuable documents that have been published.

A copy of a part of the Will of Samuel Klugman, of South Weymouth, 1784. "A certified copy of the Will of William Elizabeth Webb, 1783." "An inventory of her estate, 1783." and "A Bond Four Thomas Webb to her, 1770." By W. H. Vane, Esq., "A Lease from Samuel Klugman to Samuel Hunt, 1781." This story of this lease is somewhat curious. An old maid, which had descended from Mr. Hunt, great-grandfather of the donor, and which had been kept in the cellar and used for the storage of potatoes and such like useful, although not particularly interesting purposes, had its side torn off, disclosing a secret drawer which contained this lease, and from which it was drawn after its nearly sixty years of slumber.

"A copy of the Massachusetts Central, dated Feb. 28, 1788." This it will be seen that the Society is constantly increasing its property, both in amount and in value, and it is hoped, now that the public can have the benefit of it and see its value, that the gifts to it will be still more numerous and valuable.

THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE

Of Weymouth have elected Hon. James Humphrey as Chairman, and Mrs. F. C. Hawes Secretary. The local appointments are for Ward 1, J. A. Humphrey; Ward 2, F. L. Dickson and Mr. E. C. Forsyth; Ward 3, Dr. F. E. Forsyth; Ward 4, Henry Dyer; Ward 5, Louis A. Cook; and Mrs. E. C. Hawes has been delegated for the usual visitation of schools, as before.

The Committee have a notice in another column concerning the omission of pages in the annual report, and the pages will be supplied on application. The matter omitted was a summary of statistics, and table of salaries.

The summary of statistics submitted was as follows:

Population of town according to census of 1875, 9,819.

Number of children in town between five and fifteen years of age, by school census of May, 1879—

Ward 1, 1,200; Ward 2, 1,100; Ward 3, 1,000; Ward 4, 900; Ward 5, 800.

Total, 4,800.

Number of children of all ages enrolled in the public schools—

Primary grades, 585; Intermediate, 100; Grammar, 505; High Schools, 110.

Total, 1,200.

The salaries paid during the year ranged from $1200 paid to the High School Principals, to an average of about $300 paid to female teachers.

THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE

Of Weymouth have elected Hon. James Humphrey as Chairman, and Mrs. F. C. Hawes Secretary. The local appointments are for Ward 1, J. A. Humphrey; Ward 2, F. L. Dickson and Mr. E. C. Forsyth; Ward 3, Dr. F. E. Forsyth; Ward 4, Henry Dyer; Ward 5, Louis A. Cook; and Mrs. E. C. Hawes has been delegated for the usual visitation of schools, as before.

The Committee have a notice in another column concerning the omission of pages in the annual report, and the pages will be supplied on application. The matter omitted was a summary of statistics, and table of salaries.

The summary of statistics submitted was as follows:

Population of town according to census of 1875, 9,819.

Number of children in town between five and fifteen years of age, by school census of May, 1879—

Ward 1, 1,200; Ward 2, 1,100; Ward 3, 1,000; Ward 4, 900; Ward 5, 800.

Total, 4,800.

Number of children of all ages enrolled in the public schools—

Primary grades, 585; Intermediate, 100; Grammar, 505; High Schools, 110.

Total, 1,200.

The salaries paid during the year ranged from $1200 paid to the High School Principals, to an average of about $300 paid to female teachers.

WAYMOUTH HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

The regular monthly meeting of the Society was held at the office of the President, Elias Richards, Esq., last Saturday evening. The committee appointed to confer with the Trustees of the Tufts Library, and also the committee in charge of the removal and arrangement of the library, made their several reports, which were accepted; by which it appears that through the courtesy of the trustees of the Society is permitted the use of sufficient rooms for library purposes and also for meetings, and that a change in the constitution permitting it, probably in future the meetings of the Society will be held in the Tufts Library room on the first Wednesday of each month, excepting July and August.

It was also stated that the books, pamphlets, papers and other property of the Society had been removed there, arranged, and are now open to the use of the public, subject to the usual restrictions that are not removed from the room except upon written permission of the library committee, which consists of Messrs. Richards, Titus and Nash. There are now works of great value to the historical student upon its shelves, and we may reasonably expect from their influence an increasing interest upon this important subject.

Arrangements were also put in operation for a public meeting of the Society at no distant day, when a historical address from some gentleman thoroughly conversant with the subject may be expected. Due notice will be given of the time and place when and where this meeting will be held.

The Recording Secretary was authorized to confer with the Selection of the town in relation to the Historical Collections of the Plymouth and Massachusetts Hay Colonies, now owned by the town and lying at the town house, to see if some arrangement may not be made whereby these valuable volumes shall be brought into more general appreciation and use, by placing them either in the library of this Society, or in the Tufts Library, (virtually the same thing), where they will be easily accessible, and where the fact of their being in sight will call attention to them.

A paper (introductory) upon the "Physiology of Weymouth," was read by Dr. F. E. Forsyth. This series of papers, prepared with much labor, from original and authentic sources, is intended to cover, as far as may be, a sketch of all the physicians who have practiced that profession in this town, from Dr. Salisbury, who came over with the "Weston" company in 1622, to the present time, and also be a record of great and permanent value. Thanks were voted, and the Doctor was requested to prepare copies of the papers, as they are prepared, for publication in the "GAZETTE."

A paper was also read by the Recording Secretary upon the "Dead Burying Ground," as it is called, situated on Front street, about half a mile from the town hall, and containing the names of its grave owners. This will appear soon in the "GAZETTE," and it is hoped that before many months we may have upon permanent record the inscriptions in all of the cemeteries in town. Already we have had several, and those, some of them, the most difficult to obtain.

The following documents were presented to the society at this meeting, for which thanks were voted. By Hon. J. W. Porter, a pamphlet containing an address delivered by Ex-Gov. Chamberlain, upon the subject suggested by its name. By F. T. Wilson, Esq., "Army Hospital, 1862." By Mr. Jeremiah Spencer, "An Indian relic found near Hurling Island," consisting of a curiously wrought stone, used by the aborigines in hunting and war.

By J. J. Lough, Esq., "The First and Second Reports of the Boston Records Commissioners, covering the early tax lists and real estate transfers, with the general records of that town." The society has now all of these valuable documents that have been published.

A copy of a part of the Will of Samuel Klugman, of South Weymouth, 1784. "A certified copy of the Will of William Elizabeth Webb, 1783." "An inventory of her estate, 1783." and "A Bond Four Thomas Webb to her, 1770." By W. H. Vane, Esq., "A Lease from Samuel Klugman to Samuel Hunt, 1781." This story of this lease is somewhat curious. An old maid, which had descended from Mr. Hunt, great-grandfather of the donor, and which had been kept in the cellar and used for the storage of potatoes and such like useful, although not particularly interesting purposes, had its side torn off, disclosing a secret drawer which contained this lease, and from which it was drawn after its nearly sixty years of slumber.

"A copy of the Massachusetts Central, dated Feb. 28, 1788." This it will be seen that the Society is constantly increasing its property, both in amount and in value, and it is hoped, now that the public can have the benefit of it and see its value, that the gifts to it will be still more numerous and valuable.

Have you seen the programme of the Old North Concert, April 6th, to be given by Mr. Dow and other eminent artists?

Post No. 40. A. B. A full attendance of the members of Post No. 40 is requested at the meeting on Tuesday evening, when the subject of new uniforms will come up for action, and samples of the outfit will be ready for inspection.

Per Order B. S. LOVELL, Comdr.

The Old Folks Gave another social dance at Lincoln Hall Thursday evening of last week, a fair number being present. As usual, Bartholomew & Co.'s orchestra furnished the best of music.

List of Letters Remaining in the Weymouth Post Office, Friday, March 12.

Mr. Spencer Brooks, S. W. Dow, Mr. Joseph L. Down, Mr. F. J. Hunt, Mr. Sewell Langley, Mr. Horace Lusander, Capt. Timothy M. Mason, Mr. Duncan McLaughlin, Mr. Leonard Studley, Mr. Martin Terry, Mr. Ed. White, Miss Helen Weekly.

Secure your seat for the Old North Concert, April 6.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WINFIELD S. HANCOCK.

An outline sketch of a prominent candidate for the nomination—his personal and social bearing—his history in the line of danger—his honesty and integrity.

WASHINGTON, March 22, '80.

The Louisiana Veterans having opened the hall with the name of Winfield S. Hancock, the occasion has been a grand one. The veterans, who are all men of high character and high ability, have been able to secure the nomination of a man who is not only a brave soldier, but a man of high character and high ability.

Winfield S. Hancock, a man of high character and high ability, has been nominated for the position of Governor of Louisiana. He is a man of high character and high ability, and his nomination is a great honor to him.
